Asian Golf Travel Nation - October 2015

Dear Golf Travelers,

Welcome to the latest issue of the Asian Golf Nation, the source for news breaking information about golf in Asia. In addition, unique golf playing tips for South East Asia's tropical environment, announcements of golf travel promotions, and our latest subscription offer are all integral parts of today's newsletter.

I am pleased to report that after the incidents in Bangkok in mid-August everything is back to normal in Thailand. Thailand with its amazing golf courses, nightlife and hotels are just like we want it; world-class and safe. All golf courses and attractions are operating normally and even Bangkok is back to welcoming golfers from all around the world. Please help me disseminate the message that Thailand continues to be a great golfing destination.

Time is also flying fast. It is already October and the high season is just around the corner. Good golf days in the northern areas of Europe and the USA are numbered due to shorter days and lower temperatures. With the first cold spell comes the planning of fall and winter holidays to warmer Asian golf destinations. In fact, while October is the wettest month of the year in SE Asia, November through March is the best time for golf.

We have completed our 2016 contracting and the good news is that green fees and hotel rates remain stable. Thailand is still the most popular Asian golfing destination with Hua Hin and Chiang Mai offering the best value-for-money and Pattaya and Bangkok being great choices for buddies trips and shorter golf breaks. Vietnam is the second most popular Asian country for golf holidays. Danang is far in front leading the way for Vietnam golf tourism and in fact might just be the best Asian golf destination bar none! Other requested golf spots include Singapore, Malaysia and Cambodia. We have some excellent multi-destination and multi-country packages so you can sample the best Asian golf destinations in one trip.

This month's tournaments are the Chiang Mai Amateur Week and Siam Country Club Amateur Week in October. Our full schedule of events for 2016 is also available to facilitate advanced planning.

To find out what else is in store for you, I invite you to read on:

holes, the new course plays up into the surrounding hills. A few holes even play on the other side of the main road and are accessed by tunnel. Derek, who is back in charge, assures top conditions on all 27 holes and plans for 3-way starts to have ample tee times for all golfers. Also moving up the scale, Gassan Legacy has upped the ante and is now the second best Chiang Mai golf course. Last year's extensive renovations and course improvements by Lee Schmidt are shining through and the course is in the best condition ever for the coming high season. Unfortunately things are not so rosy all over. Alpine seems to have stalled in terms of conditioning and friendliness. Worse yet, they are implementing a 15% price hike starting November. This is most unwelcome and will certainly hurt their already lagging business.

 Dalat: The Eternal Spring City now has 3 regulation 18-hole golf courses available for play. The 1920's built Dalat Palace is still the only wall-to-wall bent grassed course in Asia and the "Grand Old Dame of Asian Golf". Sacom Golf Club plays deep into one of the most specular pine forested valleys of Tuyen Lake. Sporting different signature flowers on every hole, the course is truly a work of art. Finally, I played all 18 at The Dalat at 1200 and while the back nine still needs some growing in, it does indeed cap off the third Dalat golf course with some championship holes across huge ravines and through the headlands of the lower reservoirs. The Dalat at 1200 facility will include professional training areas and its own 5-star resort.

Phu Quoc: Last month I visited this remote Vietnamese island just south of Cambodia and was amazed to learn about what is planned. Currently, the existing 27-hole IMG designed Vinpearl Golf Club Phu Quoc is a reasonable course carved out of an old hardwood forest. The main appeal is for those on a family holiday and wanting a casual round. However, the real draw will be when Vinpearl finishes their plan to build, depending on who you ask, anywhere from 8 to 13 courses on the island. Then Phu Quoc will certainly be in the running for best new golf destination in Asia. Stay tuned!

Malaysia

 Langkawi: The 99 East Golf Club Langkawi has closed its doors reducing the number of playable courses on the island from three to two. The course will undergo extensive renovations and be upgraded from a 9-hole to an 18-hole facility. They anticipate welcoming golfers to Langkawi again by the end of 2016. Once completed Langkawi will have the critical mass to attract foreign golfers in much larger numbers. In the meantime, The Els Club Teluk Datai and Gunung Raya Golf Resort are both good resort courses and very pleasant to play.

Golf Travel Testimonials - George Pong - Golf in Thailand

My name is Steve Madden and I live in Sydney, Australia.

I have played golf since I was a young boy, however it's only in the last 4-5 years that I have had time to play on a regular basis. My current GA handicap is 13 and I am a member of Pennant Hills Golf Club in Sydney. With its roots established over a hundred years ago Pennant Hills is considered a "Private" A Grade golf course, featuring tree-lined fairways and rolling terrain. Whilst not long by modern standards the par 71 course is still demanding.

I have played golf in Thailand many times originally playing in Phuket whilst on holiday with my family in 2006. I first came across Golfasian when I saw their advertisement in an Australian golf magazine and they have looked after me ever since.

There aren't many destinations I haven't visited: Phuket, Bangkok, Chiang Mai & Pattaya have all been sampled. Most times I have travelled with a group of like-minded male golfers all of whom love the experience of playing "Golf in a Kingdom". Golf in Thailand is great because of the quality of the courses on offer, the hot and humid climate and the post-golf activities. Although the price of golf is quite expensive (if you choose to play some of the best courses) it is well worth the money in my opinion. A point to consider is that as a full service company, Golfasian packages include transfers to and from the course, accommodation and green fees plus caddy. You are collected promptly, delivered directly to the course and chauffeured in well-kept mini vans that have plenty of room for you and your golf gear. After golf the driver delivers you back to your hotel without any hassles, capping off a great day's golf. I also thoroughly enjoy the great attitude of the caddies that form a large part of the unique experience. Their friendly nature and willingness to provide advice and guidance makes golf in Thailand something you keep coming back for!! The humidity can sometimes be challenging but I love this type of weather so it isn't a problem.

Personally I love visiting Thailand for the culture, food and nightlife. Most of the hotels that we have stayed at have been first class including the Sofitel Bangkok, the Holiday Inn Bangkok and a recent stay at the Shangri-La Bangkok which is right next to the Chao Phraya river, a wonderful bustling thoroughfare that harks back to the 19th century when Bangkok was a significant Asian trading centre.

After a great day's golf you can relax by the pool or grab a massage before heading out for dinner. The cost of food ranges from cheap but delicious street food to a top quality dining experience; Thailand has a taste for all budgets! Then it's back to the room for a rest before another day's golf!

The best thing about booking your golfing vacation with Golfasian is that they take the hassle out of planning. All you have to do is turn up and swing the club! I would highly recommend Golfasian to anyone looking for a great golf experience in Paradise!!!

Siem Reap Destination Review

The past decade has seen a flourishing tourist industry with some three million visitors per year enjoying a full range of cultural and luxury travel experiences. Since 2005 golf has been proving to be an increasingly important part of tourism in Cambodia.

Siem Reap is the main golf destination in Cambodia. Siem Reap is a small former French colonial town that has been visited by foreigners mainly to see the 1000 year old cradle of Khmer civilization and the Temples of Angkor Wat. There are now three international standard courses each with their own variety and challenges for everyone from amateurs to professionals. In addition, with the temples of Angkor Wat nearby, Siem Reap is proving to be one of the world's best undiscovered golf destinations.

Featured Golf Course - Phokeethra Country Club

(home of the Asian Tour's Johnnie Walker Cambodian Open)

The Sofitel-managed Phokeethra Country Club, Angkor Wat, adds to the world class golf now available in Cambodia. The golf course hosted the 2009 Johnnie Walker Classic and 2010 Cambodian Open.

The location is perfect for Cambodia golf visitors as it is half way from the airport to town and reflects much having to do with Cambodian culture and history. For example between the 9th green and 10th tee is a restored 'Rolu' bridge, which is also the iconic image used in the course's logo, dating back to the 11th century Khmer empire.

Is Koh Samui Golf For Real?

Major golf destinations share several things in common. They include:

1. Three or more golf courses of international standard
2. A range of golf resorts to accommodate all

- levels of price and luxury
- 3. Easy to get to/from
- 4. Reasonable prices
- 5. Non-golf activities such as cultural, gastronomic, spa, and/or beaches

Koh Samui has technically three golf courses, However, only Santiburi Samui Country Club is 18-holes and of international standard. The course is a spectacular example of a tropical island layout, perhaps even Thailand's best. However without any comparable courses on the island one would have to play multiple rounds at Santiburi Samui to have anything more than an isolated holiday round of golf.

Golfing Tips - When to Play?

One of the frequent questions I get asked by clients when they are planning their golf trip is what is the best time of day to play in Thailand? They are of course referring to dealing with the hot and humid conditions that prevail for most of the year.

There are 2 schools of thought. Temperatures are lowest in the morning so many play as early as possible before the sun really starts to get high in the sky. This makes a lot of sense, but it isn't for everyone; many of us aren't morning people and take a while to kick start our swings so teeing off at 7:00am doesn't work.

An alternative is to tee off after lunch which I favour. Whilst certainly it is hot for the first hour or so, the breeze is more likely to appear later on and temperatures start to dip at about 2pm. For my part, playing golf towards the end of the afternoon is the best; there are less players on the course and it's far more peaceful.

See which you prefer, but come what may take all sensible precautions against dehydration whilst you're out there, no matter the time of day.
